John Dornheim: Why I Support NAMI

With a career as a mental health trainer and community liaison, John Dornheim currently serves as the president of the NAMI Texas board of directors and just finished leading the NAMI Walk in Dallas, helping to raise $160,000. A longtime Dallas resident, John also believes giving to NAMI Texas is important.

“I could watch reruns of old television shows, bake cupcakes, play video games—I'm sure a lot of people would select one or all of those activities—but for me NAMI means helping others who have no voice, friends who are less fortunate than I.

"I'm proud to donate to NAMI Texas. Every gift matters. I hope you'll join me at the NAMI Texas Awards dinner where you will be invited to give or donate online now."
"It gives me a warm feeling to help make life better for people affected by mental health conditions across the entire state of Texas. My gift helps NAMI Texas foster Affiliates, especially in rural areas where people need the most help, and educate lawmakers about what's best for mental wellness in Texas." - John Dornheim
